ALL-STARS WIN OVER C. B. C. TEAM

Two Fast Soccer Games Are Staged Sunday.

An all-star team won the first seccer game from a team of youngsters, playing under the C. B. C. colors, by tween Philippi-Wisharts and Phoenix Shortening resulted in a 1 to 1 tie, in Sunday's seccer program.

In the first half the college lads played good ball, though the score would seem to indicate the reverse. After the kickoff the Adams avenue outfit started off with a dash and kept hammering away at the opponents' goal for fully five minutes, when a break peculiar to soccer, resulted in the first goal of the game. Fullback Gavin lifted one over the heads of the crowd in front of his goal. It was received by Duff, who passed to inside left Mufroe, who brought it up to within a few yards and sent it through with one of his characteristic shots. After Best kicked off from center, Dohogne and Arnoult worked the sphere down the field by some pretty plass work, where with the aid of the other forwards, they kept Goal Tender Parkes busy. This recruit responded as a veteran, and cleared many a difficult shot. It was mainly due to his spectacular and hard work that his team did not come with the small end of the score. In the second period the C. B. C. tryouts tried hard to overcome the lead. Their work was rewarded a few minutes after the whistle blew, when Best put one through which Parkes had to go behind the goal to get. This as the result of beautiful plass work on the part of the recruits. Shortly after this Munroe received a cross from Burnett, and put in another lightning fast one. This was the last of scoring, though the college lads were entitled to another, but Umpire Brotherton did not judge it that way. They had another chance to score when Capt. Dohogne failed to kick a penalty.

Walsh and Ament were the stars for the college in the backfield, which doyce crossed beautifully in front of the opponents' goal. Monroe was the shooting star for the winners, as ne scored the three goals for his team. Semple and Gavin stoutly upheld the defense of their team.

Before starting the game is was decided to play only recruits on the college ream, with a few of the regulars to help out, with the intention of pick-In the first half the college lads

"I am glad Uncle Sam grabbed me when he did," said Wamby. "For if I had waited until the end of the season I might not have had my chance to get into the officers' training camp. Training at Camp Gordon for a commission is harder than my work as a private and corporal was at Camp Taylor. I am working hard and have been half-promised that if I make good I will be attached to a regiment going over to France soon. So I am hoping to get across in time to help put the lid on the kaiser.

Batting the Hard Part.

Teaching batting is going to be that hard part of making the French good ball players. Almost anyone who has good eyesight and the usual number of arms and legs can learn to field, but hatters, like poets, are born, not made. Few men without natural talent ever have developed into great hitters, although some who had the innate ability have improved with coaching. There is no reason why in time the French should not learn to hit fairly well, however, and the second generation of their ball players may develop some great sluggers. Any nation as courageous, brainy and ambitious as the French, can do anything that it starts out to do. If you don't believe it, ask the kaiser.

and go out to borrow money with which to pay the claims.

Follow Natural Impulse,
There is a good reason why this should be so, however. The men of give encouragement to the budding "Ty" Cobbs of Paris. Every one who reads the sporting pages has heard of Napoleon Lajole, and "Larry" is as French as they make them, although he was born in Woonsockel. Riode Island. There is no reason why France, in time, should not turn out some "native sons" just as good as this transplanted representative of the country of Lafsyette.

The teams from the United States mayal stations will outrival the college elevens in point of strength this autumn according to the Great Lakes Bulletin. The newspaper published at the Great Lakes naval training station. Pre-liminary reports received by Wallay Camp, head of the athietic division of the navy commission on training activities, make it clear that football will form the principal feature of the programs of sports at every naval station from Machies, Me, to Mami, Fia, on the Atlantic seaboard, and from Pugei Sound, Wash, to San Diego, Cal, on the Pacific slope. Camp has installed a dozen coaches, whose names are familiar to followers of the gridiron game, at the various stations. George V. Brown is forming a learner of stations in the Boston district. Dr. William T. Bull, former Vale coach and Fred M. Walker, who recently pitched for the St. Louis Nationals, are in charge of the Newbort district. tood old baseball slang is supposed ing the pure English that has been spoken at the home of William Shakespeare according to a correspondent who writes from England. "Attaboy" and thit the dirt" now are used by English boys and girls, and their elders, too at Straiford-on-Avon when they want to clout words of encouragement or plead for more effort.

It all comes about through the visit of a party of a hundred or so American sodiers to the sacred precinct of Avon. They were taken on a rest four by war welfare workers and when they arrived they concluded to play a game of hall. The villagers gathered in masse to see it—and well you know the rest.

The voacher of one of the army ball teams, the correspondent soes on to say, was once a New York policeman, and the line of stuff he handed out first shocked the Avonites, then wen their admirtation, until now every English lad in the town tries to imitate him, slang, Hugh Jennings antics and all.

After the game the soldiers were taken on a trip to Warwick castle, where, further says the correspondent they scattered peanut hulls all over the place, felt of the tanestries, passed side remarks on the works of art and generally made themselves at home—and the English professed to like it.
